Intervention

Redesign systems and their output

Change Phase

ADOPTION

Description

Which systems do we use (for example, IT, finance management and information)? Is that output aligned with the change? For example, the management information systems, do they give you the right steering information for the new situation?